Mademoiselle from Armentieres

F          C7
Mademoiselle from Armentieres, Parley-vous?
C7                                   F
Mademoiselle from Armentieres, Parley-vous?
F              C7
Mademoiselle from Armentieres,
F  C7
She hasn’t been kissed in forty years,
F  C7  F
Hinky, dinky, parley-vous.

F          C7
Mademoiselle from Armentieres, Parley-vous?
C7                                   F
Mademoiselle from Armentieres, Parley-vous?
C7
She had the form like the back of a hack
F  C7
When she cried the tears ran down her back
F  C7  F
Hinky, dinky, parley-vous.

F          C7
Mademoiselle from Armentieres, Parley-vous?
C7                                   F
Mademoiselle from Armentieres, Parley-vous?
F  C7
She had 4 chins, her knees would knock
F  C7
And her face would stop a cuckoo clock
F  C7  F
Hinky, dinky, parley-vous.

F          C7
Mademoiselle from Armentieres, Parley-vous?
C7                                   F
Mademoiselle from Armentieres, Parley-vous?
F  C7  F
She could beg a franc, a drink a meal - But it wasn’t because of sex appeal
F  C7  F
Hinky, dinky, parley-vous.

F          C7
Mademoiselle from Armentieres, Parley-vous?
C7                                   F
Mademoiselle from Armentieres, Parley-vous?
F  C7
She could guzzle a barrel of sour wine
F  C7  F
And eat a hog without peeling the rind   Hinky, dinky Parley-vous
The MPS think they won the war, Parley-vous
Standing guard at the cafe door
Hinky, dinky, parley-vous.

The officers get the pie and cake, Parley-vous?
And all we get is belly ache
Hinky, dinky, parley-vous.

The sergeant ought to take a bath, Parley vous?
If he changes his underwear
The frogs will give him Croix de guerre
Hinky, dinky, parley-vous.

You might forget the gas and shells, Parley-vous?
But you’ll never forget the Mademoiselles
Hinky, dinky Parley-vous

Mademoiselle from Armentieres Parley-vous?
Just blow your nose and dry your tears
We’ll be back in a few short years
Hinky dinky parley- vous